HOPE IS IN THE LIVING ROOM, LITERALLY PATIENT ROUNDTABLE AND HOLIDAY CELEBRATION

Please join us for one of the most important Living Rooms of the year...the Patient Roundtable and Holiday celebration.

ALCF believes the most important voices in the fight against lung cancer are the voices of our patients. Throughout the year, guest speakers and experts from around the world visit and share the most current and vital information and research updates. Although we hear from the patients on a daily basis, this session of the Living Room brings HOPE home. Patients aren't just a part of the solution to reaching our goal of turning lung cancer into a chronically managed disease by 2023. Patients ARE the solution and the promise. Come together with us either in person or via Ustream and join the fight by sharing your experiences, vision, ideas, hopes and dreams. Your participation helps us to work faster, better, smarter and most importantly, together. This Living Room session is also a time to celebrate our lives, our loved ones and the HOPE and power we are building to defeat this disease.

We can live about forty days without food, about three days without water, about eight minutes without air, but only for one second without hope." — anonymous
